FALL 2024

The Delmonico Way* by Max Tucci

Thursday, October 10 at 7:30 pm

"Delmonico's is older than the Statue of Liberty, the Brooklyn Bridge, Grand Central and older than public running water!" - Max Tucci

Join renowned restaurateur and best-selling author, Max Tucci, as he serves up a delectable narrative on his award-winning cookbook, "The Delmonico Way: Sublime Entertaining and Legendary Recipes from the Restaurant that Made New York!" (Rizzoli New York), weaving tales of his family's nearly century-old gastronomic legacy, sharing behind the scenes stories of their iconic dishes, such as Eggs Benedict, the Wedge Salad & Marlene Dietrich's cherished Cherries Jubilee, and the culinary philosophy that drives his beloved restaurants, Delmonico's and TUCCI. With passion and insight, he'll share how he's reimagined classic dishes for modern palates, leaving attendees hungry for a taste of the Delmonico way and the warm hospitality that has made his restaurants a culinary destination.

Beacon to the World: A History of Lincoln Center* by Joseph W. Polisi

Thursday, November 7 at 7:30 pm

Dr. Joseph W. Polisi was President of the Juilliard School for 34 years from 1984-2018 and is now President Emeritus and Chief China officer of the school. Through his experiences at Juilliard and Lincoln Center, Polisi creates in his book a complex tableau which traces the idealistic and determined efforts by John D. Rockefeller, III and his colleagues to create a unique environment where the most prominent performing arts institutions in New York City would be brought together at a venue named Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. Through readings and historic photos, Polisi will guide you through the Center's history from late 1955 to the present day, pointing out the involvement of such artists, architects and politicians as Leonard Bernstein, Beverly Sills, Robert Moses, Philip Johnson, and many others and reflect on the current status of Lincoln Center as it shifts away from classical programming in favor of genres like pop, hip-hop, social dance and comedy.

Orchestra Lumos: A Night in Vienna, Almost

Wednesday, December 4 at 7:30 pm
